

On April 16th, CCB presented the proceeds of the 2009 Spring for Dinner to the Memorial Library of Little Valley. On March 21st, CCB's America's Promise Team held a spaghetti dinner with all proceeds benefiting the local library. Because of its success, at yesterday's America's Promise meeting the Team voted to make this an annual event. The library plans to purchase children's books with the entire $1000. Gretchen Taft, Librarian (center), was extremely pleased and appreciative to receive the check from CCB's America's Promise Team members Missy Smith (left) and Jamie Greene (right).

CCB joined America' Promise in 1999 and has been helping area children ever since. America's Promise is a children's-aid organization founded in 1997 by Alma Powell with her husband, General Colin Powell. Five promises anchor the effort: to succeed in life, all young people need caring adults, safe places, a healthy start, effective education and opportunities to help others.
